

Do you feel, your intellektual proprietary right is casually being misused?

Some engineers and MBA have informed, that they have the feeling, that their submitted CV-Content will be linked to other "low paid" persons.

A signed Statement of Exclusivity and Availability says nothings, because it does not prove, that your CV is actual submitted for Evaluation and Award of services.

Even more worst, if the intellectual input for Methodologies / Technical Proposals is being exploited by the requestor.

A writer of the Methodology should request 3 000 Euro (Three thousand Euro) and off-set the amount by adding to the daily fee in portion with the mission duration.
i.e. $3000 \text{ €}/100 \text{ wd} = +30 \text{ Euro per day}$; $3000 \text{ €}/25 \text{ working days} = +120 \text{ Euro per day}$ to a regular fee of minimum 600 Euro and 200 Euro EU per diem.

Conclusion

If a foreeseen "Team Leader" prepares a Methodology / Technical proposal for a service / frame work contract, please be aware, that your intellectual proprietary rights will not misused. Request a proper compensation for your intellectual input.

Recommendation

Do not provide your Statement of Exclusivity and Availability, if you get the "final result of the Technical Proposal / Methodology", esp. with the name of the other team members (e-mails).

Otherwise it happens, that your CV and intellectual input for the TEC PROP is being used for the purpose to suck out / tap your knowledge to enhance the immaterial enterprise value.

Communication:

Inquiries to Katharina@GuB21.de File: www.GuB21.de/Proprietary_20180210.pdf